
SOUTHERN CRABAPPLE

Malus angustifolia

Description

The Southern Crabapple is a native flowering shrub or small tree. This tree is valued for its beautiful pink apple blossoms in the spring and red or green crabapples in the fall.

Information

CATEGORY	Deciduous
GROWTH RATE	Average
ADAPTABILITY	Full sun to partial shade
SHAPE	Rounded and open crown
SIZE	15-30’ tall, 15-20’ wide

Seasonal value

Popular for their beautiful blooms and small fruits (often used in jellies), it’s best to plant them away from paths or roads due to fruit drop. Crabapples attract a variety of wildlife, from pollinators to birds and mammals.

Trees Charlotte